PRESTON KEAT

Based in London, England, Preston Keat is a managing director and head of political and country risk at UBS; a global financial services firm. In this role he oversees the bank's political and country risk team, which analyzes a broad range of economic and macro/geopolitical themes and trends, and manages country ratings and exposure limits. He also leads the firm's internal "Economist Forum" and "Risk Think Tank."

Prior to joining UBS, Preston worked for ten years at the political risk consultancy, Eurasia Group, where he was a research director, head of the Europe practice, and a member of the management committee. He is the co-author of The Fat Tail: The Power of Political Knowledge for Strategic Investing (Oxford, 2009). He holds a Ph.D. from UCLA, an M.Sc. from the London School of Economics, and a B.A. from the College of William and Mary.
